Find a kind, funny or inspiring quote from a book that you like. Write it out and put it somewhere that you will see it daily. Every day you will look at this and be reminded of something good!

Would you like to be a book editor?

Barrington Stoke is a publisher of books for children and young adults. They are looking for students to help to edit their manuscripts before they are published as books.

The current book that they are looking for young editors to read and edit is a re-telling of Charlotte Bronte's 'Jane Eyre', which has been written by Tanya Landman. It is 118 pages long, so hopefully shouldn't take too long to read!

If you would be interested in trying this, please speak to Mrs Muir in the library.
